TECHS AND THE CITY PRESENTS:
Code Clash - The AI Showdown

Project Brief: The 10-Minute Coding Challenge   Date: March 11, 2025

Challenge Overview

Your mission, should you choose to accept it, is to build a script, tool, or website that predicts the eventual winner of the 2025 SEC Men's Basketball Tournament. You have complete freedom in your approach—you can use AI coding tools, source external data, or even leverage machine learning models. However, you must complete the entire task within the 10-minute limit.
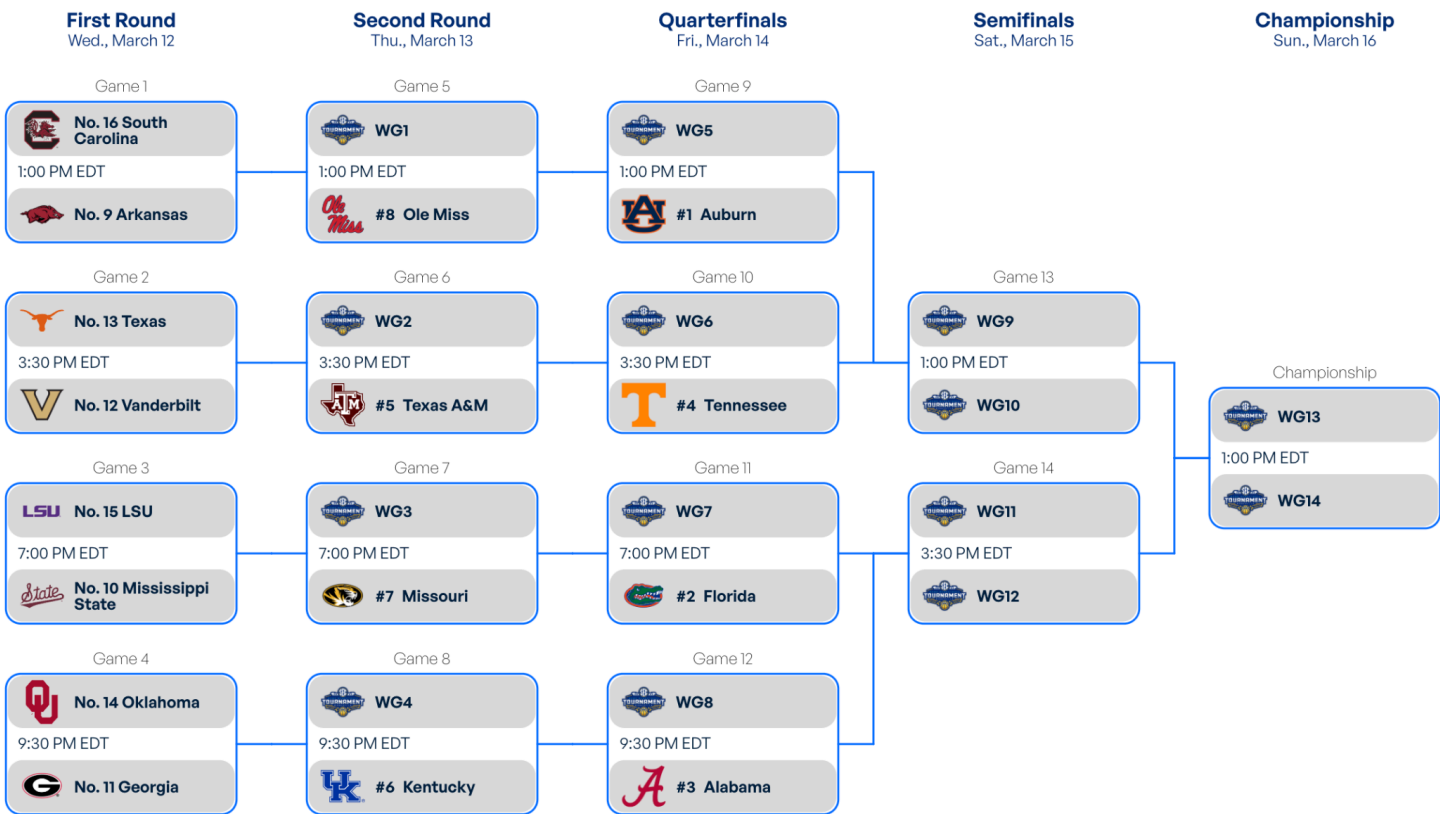

Challenge Parameters

- Goal: Create a functional predictor for the 2025 SEC Men's Basketball Tournament winner. Including round-by-round results to track team progress throughout the tournament.
- Time Limit: 10 minutes.
- Tech Stack: Any language, framework, or toolset is allowed.
- Data Sources: You can use any external data, but consider time constraints.
- AI Assistance: You may leverage AI-powered coding tools (e.g., ChatGPT, GitHub Copilot).
- Evaluation Criteria: Completeness, creativity, and accuracy of the prediction method.

Final Thoughts

This challenge showcases how AI and automation can enhance or replace traditional development workflows. Whether you build a simple script, an interactive website, or an AI-powered predictor, your creativity and speed will be tested. You have 10 minutes. Let the code clash begin!
